ABOUT

Booking Biography

Jay Daniels is a pianist, vocalist, and musical storyteller with over 30 years of professional experience. Based in the New York City region, he performs themed concert programs that blend live music, historical context, and audience engagement into something audiences don't quickly forget. Each show is crafted as an intimate, narrative-driven experience -- part concert, part radio broadcast, part living history lesson. Jay has performed for public libraries, senior living communities, country clubs, theaters, and private events across the Northeast, Midwest, Southeast, and Canada. He is widely praised by presenters as "easy to work with," "incredibly kind," and "a true showman."
